

Diary Entry

Imagine that you are a resident of Ashtabula or Woodburn long ago...

...you can be male or female; old or young; the wealthy plantation owner or a slave...

...it's up to you!

Write a diary entry describing what you did today. Put the date that you might have been there. Be descriptive, and have fun with it.

Be sure to give hints about who you are, and mention specific things that you learned about or saw on your tour.

Most importantly... be creative!
